SUPREME COURT BARS LIQUOR FROM ALL VESSELS IN AMERICAN WATERS

Upholds Daugherty Ruling in This Respect But Finds Government Has No Power to Extend Volstead Law to Ships Outside Three-Mile Limit.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, April 30.—The right of the United States government to compel both American and foreign owned ships to be "bone dry" within American waters was upheld today by the United States supreme court in a sweeping decision which clarifies many of the complexities of the national prohibition laws.

The famous Daugherty opinion, extending the Volstead law to all American ships, wherever they may be, was thus partially upheld and partially thrown down.

The court held that American ships could be forced by the prohibition law to go dry in American waters, but the law did not force such ships to go dry in waters over which the United States had no jurisdiction. When foreign or domestic ships are outside American waters they cannot be controlled by the Volstead law, the court said.

A dissenting opinion was delivered by Justice Sutherland.

REPORT ON ROAD CONDITIONS

In its report on conditions of the highways the state highway department states: The New York road on the west side of the Hudson is open except for stretches from Catskill to Saugerties in Ulster county and in the village of Cornwall in Orange county. The Saugerties-Catskill road is closed between Katsbaan and Maiden town road and the town road, north of the West Shore Railroad, due to reconstruction of the bridge at Maiden crossing. The detour is westerly over the Maiden-Katsbaan road, thence northerly and westerly back to the Saugerties-Catskill road. The detours are posted.

The Orange county detour is a short one over village streets in Cornwall. Upon reaching the village continue along Hudson street southwesterly to the next corner, where junction is made with the Newburgh-Cornwall road. The detour is posted.

BANK COMPLETES ITS IMPROVEMENTS

The improvements at the First National Bank in Rondout are now complete in every detail and, as the reader will see from an advertisement which appears in another part of the Freeman, the officials now invite the public to inspect the new quarters. All of the safe deposit boxes have been moved into their new quarters, and the patrons of the bank are finding the up-to-date booths which are also in this department a great assistance to them in carrying on their banking business.

SEAMEN'S STRIKE FUTILE IN N. Y.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, April 30.—Efforts to raise sentiment of members of the International seamen's union for a strike in the event of the union's demands for a general $15 raise is not met, was started by members of the union today. This union, with a reputed membership of 7,500, is not affiliated with the I. W. W., which last week called a strike of seamen.

The I. W. W. strike is hardly a ripple in shipping circles here, it is now generally admitted. Approximately 900 men are on strike.

4 ARRESTED FOR GREENE COUNTY

Saturday afternoon police headquarters were asked to watch out for four negroes in an automobile who were wanted on a charge of robbing Alvin Brown of Shandaken of $50. Later Officer Soper picked up Alfred Morgan, Lawrence Johnson, Clayton Ivel, and Robert Ford, who were turned over to the sheriff's office, and the Lexington, Greene county, authorities notified. Sunday afternoon Greene county authorities called for the quartet who will be arraigned at Catskill today.

OPEN FREER ART GALLERY SOON

Brother of Late Watson M. Freer Makes Gift of $7,000,000 Collection to U. S. Government—Is Really National Art Gallery.

Washington, D. C., April 30.—Opening here next Wednesday of the Freer Gallery of Art will mean the realization of a national gallery of art as an institution worthy of the name and expressive to some extent of the ambitions and ideals of the founders.

The collection about to be opened to the public, together with the building that houses it, is valued at $7,000,000. It comprises the most valuable outright gift ever made to the United States government and the first distinctive institution of the government devoted exclusively to artistic purposes. In the opinion of experts the Freer collection and its home are sufficient to lift this national gallery to a conspicuous place among art exhibits of the world.

Charles Freer, the donor, was born in Kingston, N. Y., in 1856. He made his money in railroad and construction work in Detroit. He devoted the latter part of his life to collection of art in all parts of the world and offered to donate it to the government, along with $500,000 for a building as early as 1904. It was not until 1906 that Congress voted the site on the ground of the Smithsonian Institution. After the date of acceptance Mr. Freer trebled his collection and increased the appropriation for a building to $1,000,000.

The exhibit embraces 4,811 examples, of which 991 are American and 3,820 Oriental. Most conspicuous among these is the collection of James McNeill Whistler, including more than 100 oil paintings, water colors, pastels, etchings, lithographs, engravings and drawings, as well as the Peacock Room which was removed in its entirety from the house to London, where it was decorated by Whistler for P. R. Leyland.

The building which houses the collection was designed by Charles A. Platt of New York, as specified by the donor, and follows the architecture of the Florentine Renaissance. Built of white stone, exterior, it provides one main exhibition floor of eighteen top lighted galleries and the Peacock Room, surrounding an open garden. The floor below the galleries will be used for storage, study, lecture hall and offices.

By its acceptance of the gift the government agreed to provide sufficient funds to be expended by the Smithsonian Institution for the maintenance of the building and the exhibit. This was the first occasion on which Congress voted a material appropriation for the maintenance of a national art museum as an adjunct of the government.

Charles Freer was a brother of the late Watson M. Freer who lived on the Saugerties road on the Maple Lane farm.

RAIN AT Poughkeepsie: HIGH SCHOOL GAME TUESDAY.

The baseball game scheduled for Poughkeepsie Saturday afternoon between the teams of the Poughkeepsie and Kingston High Schools was postponed on account of rain. It will be played tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at Poughkeepsie.

Divorce for J. L. Misner.
Saturday at Poughkeepsie Justice Morschauser in special term of the supreme court granted a divorce to James L. Misner from his wife, Hattie Misner. The parties reside at Pine Hill, William D. and William D. Brinnier, Jr. were attorneys for Mr. Misner.

Leaves Parole Agency.
Miss Lillias B. Agnew has resigned her position with the Parole's Insurance Agency. Miss Agnew will move out of town within a short time.

ORGANIST COKE-JEPHOTT CHANGES HIS MIND

The Rhinebeck Gazette says: Mr. Coke-Jephott exercises his artistic prerogative and changes his mind. After arranging to resume his position at the Church of the Messiah on May first he has now notified Rev. Mr. Belshaw, the rector, that he will remain in Utica.

Eugene M. Devereaux of Far Rockaway, N. Y., has been engaged for the vacancy here. Mr. Devereaux is a pupil of Tertius Noble and is now in charge of the music in the Episcopal church at Far Rockaway.

Whether or not Mr. Coke-Jephott has turned down his position at Vassar College could not be learned.

Our Growing Population.
The following births have been reported to the board of health:

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Volt, 34 South Clinton avenue, a daughter, Caroline Jane.

Mr. and Mrs. Isador Parnet, 45 Chambers street, a daughter, Etta.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Palisi, 638 Broadway, a son, Joseph A.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Robinson, 155 O'Neil street, a son, Christopher Ricks.

An Ambulance Call.
Mrs. Max Cohen was removed from 83 Downs street to the Kingston City Hospital Sunday afternoon in the ambulance.

BLUE BIRD SHOP IS BURGLARIZED

Some Time Saturday Night a Man and a Woman Broke Into Lower Broadway Store and Stole Goods to Value of Between $800 and $1,000.

All day Sunday the police department was busy working on the robbery of the Blue Bird Shop, conducted by B. Strawgate, at No. 40 Broadway, which had been burglarized some time Saturday night during the rainstorm. According to Mr. Strawgate the woman's apparel to the value of between $800 and $1,500 had been taken.

Entrance to the store had been secured through the rear. In order to get into the store it had been first necessary to climb over a nine foot brick wall and then break a way through a store house.

When the police investigated a box of woman's silk stockings was found at the foot of the wall where the thieves. As the footwear was damp the police believe that the robbery was committed during the rainstorm that night.

Chief of Police J. Allan Wood said this morning that indications were that the job had been committed by a man and a woman. As the police are still working on the case what clues they had found were not made public.

AGED MAN IS FOUND HANGING

August Dietz, Gardener, Apparently Despondent, Suspended from Rafter in Walker's Haymow Several Days Before Body Was Discovered.

Employees at the John Walker market gardens on the Plank road in the town of Ulster, about a mile from the Hightstown bridge, when in the haymow of the barn about 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, where they had gone to throw down feed for the cattle, discovered the body of a man hanging at the end of a rope that was about his neck.

Investigation showed the man who was dead was August Dietz, a German, who had been employed at different times by the various market gardeners along the Plank road. Dietz, who boarded at 473 Washington avenue for a long time, had, so far as known, no relatives in this country.

Coroner Conner's office was notified and Drs. E. H. and E. D. R. Loughran, who went to the place, found the body very badly decomposed, and expressed the opinion that Dietz had been dead for four days or more.

Dietz was in the German army during the Franco-Prussian war when a boy and had been in this city and vicinity for over a score of years. He was an excellent piano player and a number of years ago played the piano at Charles Hubbscher's hotel at Katrine and dances in this city and vicinity. For some time he was afflicted badly with rheumatism and unable to work. As he frequently visited the market gardeners along the Plank road no attention was paid to his leaving and it is thought because of his rheumatic affliction and suffering that he became despondent and went into the haymow, placed one end of a rope to a rafter and the other end about his neck and stepping over so that the rope about his neck tightened slowly strangled to death.

Conner & Valentine, undertakers, took the body this morning to the City Home and the remains were interred in the burial ground there as Dietz's home was in Kingston and he had no relatives. It being daylight saving time, the feeding time for the stock on Sunday was one hour earlier and thus the mow being lighter than the feeding hour of last week explains why the body was not seen before.

C. RAY EVERETT NOW ALDERMAN

Mayor Walter P. Crane has appointed C. Ray Everett of No. 117 Washington avenue alderman of the Eleventh ward to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. Henry Behrens, the well known dentist, who resigned when he removed to another ward.

Mr. Everett is a son of Charles B. Everett, the Wall street baker and grocer, and is a young man who is held in high esteem by all who know him. His appointment will meet with general approval from the residents of that ward.

NINE DIE AND SEVEN VESSELS ARE WRECKED ON NEW ENGLAND COAST

21 Rescued From Rum Boat After Scared Cook Has Jumped Overboard—Seven Lost When Collier Seaconnet Founders.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Boston, April 30.—The storm which for 15 hours ravaged the New England coast took a toll of 9 lives and wrecked at least 7 vessels. It was apparent today. Seven members of the crew of the Boston steam collier Seaconnet were lost when that vessel foundered a mile from the Vineyard Sound lighthouse. Twenty-two other persons aboard, including the wife of the wireless operator, reached the lighthouse in life boats.

The negro cook of the rum laden British steam yacht Thelma Phoebe lost his life when he became panic-stricken and leaped overboard with a mattress as the vessel struck on Fisher's Island, Vineyard Sound.

The other members of the crew were taken off by the coast guard. The vessel is rapidly going to pieces and being carried ashore by the sea.

Captain George Gardner of the coal barge Braddock went down with that vessel when she went on the rocks at Point Judith. Other members of the crew were rescued.

The other vessels wrecked were:

the schooner Francis Goodnow of Boston, wrecked on McKenney's Point, Cape Elizabeth, Maine; the coal barge Ephraim, of Philadelphia, wrecked off Popham Beach, Maine; the coal barge Taunton, of Fall River, wrecked at Point Judith, and the coal barge Canton, also of Fall River, wrecked off Point Judith. The crews of the latter vessels were rescued.

Several vessels summoned by S. O. S. calls of the Seaconnet reached the zone in time to view the floating wreckage. The City of Rome, Savannah bound, went miles off her course under forced draught to the assistance of the Seaconnet, but arrived too late, as did the revenue cutter Acushnet.

Because of her precarious position, there was considerable difficulty in taking off the crew of the Thelma Phoebe. Twenty-one members of her crew were finally landed after a breeches buoy had been rigged.

A breeches buoy also was employed at a spectacular rescue of the crew of the schooner Francis Goodnow. Soon after the crew was landed the masts of the vessel were carried away and it would have been impossible to use the breeches buoy.

DE VALERA ORDER IS DISOBEYED

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Dublin, April 30.—Liamon De Valera's proclamation ordering Republican irregulars to suspend hostilities at noon today was ignored, according to reports received here.

As the manifesto was not addressed specifically to the Free State and as it did not order republicans to surrender up their arms to the government, as demanded by the Free State, it was passed over by the Free State government.

According to reports received here disorders have taken place in various communities. In the meanwhile the Free State troops continue their round up of irregulars, arresting many of them.

AUTO ACCIDENTS OVER WEEK END

There were several more auto accidents over the week end in Kingston reported at police headquarters, but no one was injured.

Sunday evening while Clara Rosenblum was driving her Hudson touring car down Wurts street toward the Rondout Creek Bridge, Joseph DeWitt of Lomontville drove his Chevrolet sedan out of Union street in front of the Hudson. Both cars were damaged but no one was hurt.

Alderman J. Philip Belcher reported to the police that Sunday afternoon a Ford sedan ran into his car, damaging it. The driver of the Ford did not stop but the alderman obtained the license number and reported it.

Sunday, the automobiles of Dr. Quinlan and William Komasa of 4 Rock street collided at Broadway and Foxhall avenue. Both cars were somewhat damaged.

C. W. Grant of 95 East Chester street reported to the police that Sunday afternoon he had struck a trolley car at Strand and Gill street.

Edwin Gerlach reported that Sunday afternoon he had struck the bicycle ridden by Robert Mericle, damaging the bicycle. The collision occurred at John and Green streets.

Emerson Lake of Fair street reported that Saturday afternoon his car and a Kaplan Furniture Company truck had collided at Crown and North Front streets, damaging both cars.

BOY TRAFFIC OFFICERS FOR Poughkeepsie

Almost simultaneously with the inauguration of the Poughkeepsie police department's summer schedule of traffic duty, which went into effect on Sunday, the Boys' Traffic Cadet Corps will be given its first trial in Poughkeepsie. The schedule of duty will be published at headquarters today and the boys will be assigned to duty this week.

SOME OLD TIME ODD FELLOWS

The Rev. Dr. Ellis of Rondout Presbyterian Church Preached Sermon to Arctas Lodge of Odd Fellows and the Hebeahs Sunday Evening.

What the world needs today is to carry into effect the principles on which the Odd Fellows' organization is founded, reverence of God, the upholding of law and order, and love for humanity, said the Rev. Dr. Charles G. Ellis, pastor of the Rondout Presbyterian Church, Sunday evening when he delivered a sermon to the members of Arctas Lodge of Odd Fellows and the Hebeahs who attended services in a body.

Dr. Ellis took as his subject "Some Old Time Odd Fellows," and his text from the sixteenth verse of the twentieth chapter of Judges in the Old Testament: "Among all this people there were seven hundred chosen men left-handed; every one could sling stones at a hair-breadth, and not miss." Dr. Ellis outlined briefly the old Biblical story contained in Judges where for the murder of a woman the men of Israel rose up against the men of Benjamin. Twice were they driven back but the third time they went up against the men of Benjamin and put them to defeat.

Among these men of Benjamin were the seven hundred left-handed men. Now a left-handed man is an odd fellow. When a baby comes into the home how carefully the mother watches to see which hand the child will use first. If it extends the left then she will carefully try to train it to use the right hand. In this world it is the right-handed man who is in the majority, and who does not find himself considered an odd fellow.

These seven hundred left-handed men of Benjamin were the first lodge of Odd Fellows in the world. They had carefully gone through all the men of the tribe of Benjamin and found but these seven hundred who were left-handed. They had then banded themselves together and had become so skillful that they could sling stones at a hair-breadth and not miss. The only trouble with these seven hundred Odd Fellows was that they were on the wrong side, and all their skill could not avail to save them or the other men of Benjamin when the men of Israel went up against them.

The modern Odd Fellow on the other hand is always on the right side. He is a member of some church, and he believes in God and worships Him. The first Odd Fellows' lodge in the country was organized in Baltimore when two Odd Fellows from England got together with a few friends and organized the lodge. Since that time the order had spread throughout the country until today it is one of the most important organizations of its kind.

The principles on which the order is founded is what the world needs today to solve its problems. The world needs to reverence God, to stand for the upholding of law and the institutions of the country. And the world needs the love of man for man. Man's love for humanity is needed to heal the wounds of the world.

In these days there is too much disrespect of the law. We break the law if it does not please us. This evening there was an auto collision in front of this church. One car was coming down the hill and the other out of Union street into Wurts street and failed to announce its intention and as a result the car coming down the hill crashed into it. The trouble is today that while we know the law we obey it only so far as it pleases us to do.

The true Odd Fellow is the man who believes that the law should be enforced as long as it is the law, and the upholding of the law is one of the principles of the order.

Dr. Ellis said that since the Eighteenth Amendment went into effect many thought it was only enacted to be violated, but every man who believed in the upholding of the law should see to it that it was kept and obeyed as long as it was the law, which he trusted would be forever. He said that the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment was the most striking forward step taken in the history of civilization in two thousand years.

In closing he urged that the principles inculcated in the lodge room be carried out in the lives of the members, and that as a result of the living of the principles of Odd Fellowship the world would become a much better place in which to live and worship God.

During the evening the chorus choir rendered a fine musical program and Mrs. Eleanor Gailey Jacobs, soprano soloist, sang beautifully "How Beautiful Upon the Mountains," by Harker.

FLOWERS ASKED FOR SICK AND NEEDY IN NEW YORK

The United Neighborhood Houses of New York, in cooperation with the National Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild, will again distribute flowers during the summer months to the sick and poor in the tenement districts of New York city. Through the courtesy of the officers of the Grand Central Railroad and the Pennsylvania Railroad, it will have booths at the east end of the lower level of the Grand Central station, and at tracks 20-21 lower level of the Pennsylvania station. Beginning May 1st they will be ready to receive donations of flowers which they hope the commuting public will bring from their gardens. Several young ladies will be in attendance every morning to receive flowers and the settlement workers will call for them and distribute them where they will bring the most joy.

G. L. F. TO REPORT BEST BUSINESS

At the May meeting of the Board of Directors of the cooperative Grange League Federation Exchange, Inc., according to H. E. Babcock, general manager, it will be shown that the Exchange enjoyed the largest business in its history during the first quarter of 1923. The auditors statement which will be presented to the directors, Mr. Babcock stated, shows that the gross sales for the period were 34 per cent in excess of sales for the same period last year and that the net profit thereon has been sufficient to practically wipe out the losses which were accumulated by the Exchange in its operation up to December 31, 1922.

HEAVIER FINES HIS REMEDY FOR SPEEDERS.

Editor, The Freeman:

After reading Chief of Police Wood's excellent words of advice, caution and requests for aid in regard to the automobile traffic, I am led to make a few observations from what I have witnessed and a leading member of the Automobile Club of Ulster county told me in a recent conversation. It is visible that most of the accidents are the result of careless or reckless driving, and also the driving of cars by inexperienced men, women and even children. If the patrolmen on duty were instructed to arrest every case of reckless driving that they saw, no matter if the cars were going 5 or 25 miles per hour, and Judge Schrick would impose fines for speeding, reckless driving, etc., of $25 or more, the dangers of streets would be appreciably less. The principal offenders against the traffic ordinance, such as passing trolley cars when discharging or taking on passengers, passing trolley cars on the wrong side of the street, passing police standards on the left, parking in prohibited places, and reckless driving are mostly local people, taxi-cab drivers, delivery trucks of business firms and express delivery trucks. An instance that happened last Friday afternoon: A motorcycle officer was taking in two speeders from Foxhall avenue when two delivery trucks, one of a prominent grocer and the other of an express delivery firm, came up Prince street and one driver said to the other: "I can beat you to Broadway." So they speeded up and raced for Broadway, crossing Hasbrouck avenue at the rate of 30 miles or more. So make the penalties heavy enough to learn them a lesson. What do they care for $3 or $5, especially the speeders, who seldom come back to answer the charges, or the local drivers who are seldom caught. Fine them $25 or more and they will soon learn to respect traffic laws.

Respectfully,

OBSERVER.

K. OF C. FOURTH DEGREE BANQUET

At Albany Sunday Was Largely Attended—Admiral Benson and Former Governor Glynn Principal Talkers.

Admiral Benson took as his subject Sunday, "Duties of the Hour," urging members of the Fourth Degree Assembly Knights of Columbus to be true patriots and to live daily lives of edification, which was listened to by 550 members who attended the banquet at the Hotel Ten Eyck, Albany. Former Governor Martin Glynn acting as toastmaster. One hundred and sixty members received the fourth degree, twenty one of the candidates being from this city, accompanied by fifty other members. During the dinner the speeches were broadcasted and twenty five telegrams from all over the country were received from persons who tuned in to hear them.

Knights were present from Rochester, Buffalo, New York, Syracuse, Philadelphia, Denver, Rouses Point, Bennington, Vt. and other communities. James J. Nolan, master of the fourth degree from the district embracing the territory from the Canadian border south to Poughkeepsie, introduced Mr. Glynn as the other principal speaker. In opening his remarks the former governor said the last speech he made was "Last June when a few Irish Sympathizers met in London to celebrate Ireland's freedom." Mr. Glynn praised very highly the work of the order.

The other speakers were William X. Geogan of Brooklyn and the Rev. Thomas J. Curley of Troy. About 1,000 attended Mass at the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception in Albany, celebrated by Mgr. Joseph A. Delaney. At the divine services Bishop Edmund F. Gibbons presided.

A feature of the dinner was messages of greetings from John R. Roddin, supreme master, and from Temple Commandery, Knights Templar. Both messages were warmly applauded.

According to the members who attended from here the ceremonies were more beautiful and impressive than any previous function.

Cat Rings Doorbell.

A cat which rings the doorbell when it wants to get into the house is one of the latest unusual members of the pussy family. This cat is owned by Mrs. Charles Wester, a lifelong resident of Carmel, N. Y.

The cat is the family pet and, standing on its hind legs, with one forepaw against the door, uses the other forepaw to give the small handle a turn, and it gives the bell a husky ring, too. The bell is of the kind which people turn with the thumb and first finger. Sometimes the cat does not succeed in ringing the bell upon first trials, but keeps at it until it does ring, when its mistress always opens the door to let it in.

IN DRAPED DRESS

Leading Novelty of Season Features Mysterious Folds in Great Profusion.

The most important change in fashions is the return of elaborate draperies, observes a Paris fashion writer in the Boston Globe. Everything is draped—skirts, wraps, and in some cases, even coats. But the leading novelty of the present season is the draped dress which falls into mysterious folds—everywhere.

One of Worth's latest models is the dress draped up at one side only. Also these draperies are so cleverly arranged that they seem to cling about the ankles. This is a notable feature in our up-to-date styles. We find the same idea repeated by different dress-makers, in a vast variety of materials, but the general outline remains the same. A great deal of draped stuff over the hips—or over one hip—and a marked tendency to draw in the skirt at the ankles.

Sleeves daily become more and more important. In some cases they are really enormous and of balloon or leg o' mutton outline, but these are exceptional. As a rule our dress artists are content with sleeves which are tight from shoulder to elbow and then full and elaborately trimmed down to the wrists. The gauntlet cuffs are original but quite wearable. They are worked in with the sleeve itself; sometimes the wide gauntlet effect is produced by the presence of flexible wires. More often one finds a series of stiff cords run into the material. Doucet is showing beautiful models with long light sleeves, finishing at the wrists with pearl cuffs which almost cover the hands. Indeed, long sleeves, which mold the arms, are going to be a feature of the spring and summer seasons. The soft material may be plain or ruffled, but the important thing is that it should seem skin-tight. Very much the same thing applies to the modern corset. It is plain and tight, but always fitted, and worn, over a rational corset. Notwithstanding all that has been said and written to the contrary, there are no serious signs of a small-waist revival.

Figured Silk Is Used for Newest Parasols

Parasols are in for a good deal of attention.

They are usually of quite substantial sort, so that they may be really used to keep the sun off, not only for ornament.

There are some huge ones, really Chinese umbrellas, of stiff silk, quite as impervious to rain as to sun. That makes these pretty parasols doubly useful, for they protect from a summer shower as well as from the summer sun. They are quite the rage at some of the beach resorts. They are decorated with designs of various sorts painted on by hand. These parasols, of course, come in many colors. Indeed, it is quite the thing nowadays to have the parasol made rain-proof. This is not just like the sun-ray umbrella, for it is rather a parasol made to withstand the rain.

Some of these are made of figured silk, especially in Persian designs, combined with plain silk. Broad stripes and floral designs are used also in these rainproof parasols.

Ribbon Girdles.

Girdles for wear on the new spring afternoon dresses are made of seven strands of inch-wide ribbon. Streamers of the same ribbon may hang at one side of the dress. Many simple dresses will have as their only trimming a girdle or sash of ribbon which starts at a cabochon on the right side of the waist and ends at another cabochon on the left side. From either cabochon may be suspended a shower of narrow ribbon streamers in various colors or the same color.

IMMIGRATION AND LABOR.

In complaining of the law restricting immigration, Judge Gar, speaks for the large employers of labor who have been accustomed to draw freely upon European sources. Representatives of these have already been heard on this subject by the Senate and House immigration committees. No doubt the politicians would like to oblige in this matter, but the difficulty is a strong and growing sentiment in this country in favor not only of restricted but of selected immigration. Our war difficulties with our foreign groups opened the people's eyes, and since then they have been giving ear to the thinkers who discourse upon the bad results of the unrestricted flood of immigration emptying into this country for a half century and more from the slums of European cities as well as from Europe's rural districts.

The American people are now interested in something more than the importation of cheap labor; they are interested in measures of self protection from a hodge-podge of unassimilable foreign nationalities. In this connection it is interesting to note the illuminating statement of the Boston Transcript that among the 25,000 aliens in the single town of Lynn, Mass., there are Albanians, Armenians, Indians, Belgians, Australians, Austrians, Chinese, Czechoslovaks, Bohemians, Dalmatians, Danes, Egyptians, Finns, Germans, Greeks, Dutch, Hungarians, Italians, Jews-Slovaks, including Croats, Serbs and Slovenes, Lithuanians, Mexicans, Norwegians, Poles, Portuguese, Rumanians, Russians, Spaniards, Swedes, Syrians, Turks, Ukrainians, Hindus and Japanese.

GASOLINE AND ALCOHOL.

The Rockefeller put all their influence behind and contributed heavily to the Anti-Saloon League. Probably it did not occur to anybody that they may have been thinking more of commercial gain than of the welfare of the widows and orphans of the drunkard. But now precisely this seems to have occurred to Senator Broussard of Louisiana, who announces a sharp and inevitable competition between alcohol and the Rockefeller product, gasoline. Mr. Broussard is the more interested in alcohol as a commercial product because his sugar-growing constituents have abundant material for its distillation. In a recent speech he said:

The farmer voted this country dry. He reserved to himself under these laws the right to make industrial alcohol, and the propagandists who led this movement and are now dictating the legislation were the regulations that will send him to the penitentiary if he follows these very laws. As a consequence he is afraid to try to manufacture industrial alcohol and although he can produce it on the farm for eight or nine cents a gallon, and it is equivalent to and better for most purposes than gasoline, he loses the material that would make good alcohol, and then he goes to market and buys gasoline at an extremely high price.

Can industrial alcohol successfully rival gasoline, and, being produced more cheaply, could it force down the price of the latter? A reliable answer in the affirmative to this question might throw a good deal of light on Rockefeller devotion to the Anti-Saloon League and the legal shackles put upon industrial alcohol.

STAMINA OF CITY FOLK.

Writing in the New York World, Heywood Brown argues that the "Marathon dancing" craze has at last shattered the fallacy that the farmer has more stamina than the man of the city. It appears that invariably city dwellers have danced down those from the country. "It may be," says this writer by way of explanation, "that in frontier days the pioneer was harder than the folk in the settlements, but today, the case of country life has sapped the vitality of the farmer and made him dabby. For him there is no daily ordeal like the subway rush to build up the capacity for bodily resistance. The eye trained to dodge cows can hardly be as keen as that trained to getting out of the way of taxicabs. Here in the jungle we must be alert and the threat of instant death on every hand sharpens the senses."

As a matter of fact, there is more in this aspect than opportunity for a column of merry-making. Many records of endurance tests, including military, tend to show that the higher the civilization, or the more civilized and urban the habits, the greater the capacity for sustained effort, physical or mental. There seem to be a greater nervous energy and power of self-compulsion, these doubtless being nourished by a more unending pride and unobscured ambition.

What do you want to know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper, enclosing self-addressed and stamped envelope for reply.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. Is there any remedy to destroy pill bugs?
2. Where can I get any reliable reading on homing pigeons?
3. Can you give me any information about a mouse seen in our home this winter that sings with notes almost like a bluebird's?

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

Answers to Previous Questions.

1. Do alligators and crocodiles eat people?
Not in North America. Alligators are timid in the wild state and unlikely to attack a human being, unless brought to bay on land or in some pocket where escape seems impossible. In captivity they are often lazy and fairly good natured with the keeper who feeds them. American crocodiles in the wild are also more inclined to flee than fight, but zoo specimens are pretty ugly. The man-eating kind are found in Egypt and India, on the Nile or the Sacred Ganges, for example.

2. I saw quantities of little birds fluttering in a tree (think they were warblers) and none to speak of anywhere else in the neighborhood. Why?
Probably the tree was an unusually rich feeding place, infested with some minute plant lice or insect, on which the birds were feeding. The fluttering you note would confirm your idea they were warblers.

3. Is it true that the gypsy moth is being cured by letting some bug fight it?

Yes, a European ground beetle, Calosoma sycophanta, has been imported here, and proves a good foe of both gypsy and brown-tail moths, themselves pests from Europe. This beetle resembles an American beetle of the same genus, but is even handsomer, its body-case being vividly iridescent—gold, copper, blue and green. These ground beetles are active friends of agriculture, cleaning up many troublesome insects.

VAN WAGENEN'S ONLY AUTO BILL, LIKELY TO PASS

Would Compel Possession of Certificate of Ownership.

The Van Wagenen anti-automobile theft law was favorably reported by the Assembly Rules Committee Friday and advanced to the order of final passage. It probably will be passed Monday night. The bill, which was introduced by the State District Attorneys Association, requires every car owner to have and always carry a certificate of ownership, which is to be transferred with the sale of the car. The measure is a law in several other states and is said to have cut down automobile thieving by more than 50 per cent. The bill will probably be about the only important automobile measure that will be favorably acted on. The bills imposing a tax on gasoline and changing the present registration rates and the governor's recommendations for statewide licensing of operators and state and city police control over registration and traffic are expected to be lost in the shuffle this week.

This heretofore made a distinct hit with the people and a plentiful supply will be ready to serve all who wish it. The classes wish to thank their many friends who attended the play on the opening night, and would welcome any of them who desire to attend the second evening, and a very cordial invitation is extended to all to come out and enjoy two hours of good live entertainment. If very stormy, the entertainment will be held on the next fair evening.

THE WEEK AT RONDOUT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The May meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society will be held at the home of Mrs. W. C. Kingman on Highland avenue, Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The devotional exercises will be led by Mrs. C. M. Preston. The program will consist of a paper "The Negro in Africa" by Mrs. John Huhne, and a review of the "Progress of the Negro in Literature, Music and Art," by Miss Mary Baker. The Misses Gertrude and Ethel Brown will sing southern melodies. All the ladies of the congregation are invited to attend. The annual meeting of the Woman's Presbyterian Society of North River will be held in Calvary Church, Newburgh, Wednesday morning. The subject for Thursday's prayer service will be "The Teaching Concerning the Law," and will be in charge of Dr. Ellis's class who have been studying "Confession of Faith" the past winter. During the past week the church has lost two of its most respected members by death, Mrs. Jesse M. Decker and Charles E. Bishop. "THE REGIMENT OF TWO" AGAIN ON WEDNESDAY The farce comedy which the young people of Trinity M. E. Church gave recently is to be repeated on Wednesday evening, May 2, proceeds for the benefit of the Ladies' Aid Society. The scene represents the New York city home of Mr. and Mrs. Tru recently vacated by Ernest DeMaye.

Written and household in which the usual family difficulties are encountered with slight deceptions and many misunderstandings. A bursted water pipe causes some excitement in which various members of the household attempt to make temporary repairs. A real plumber finally succeeds in mending the broken pipe and also succeeds in making love to the maid. Great heroism is displayed when a telegram arrives calling the 38th Regiment to the front to suppress the outbreak in Panama. In the third act all have returned and relate their various experiences with much statement and enthusiasm. WEST PARK. West Park, April 30.—John Quick has not yet moved into the house recently vacated by Ernest DeMaye.

LIFE AND LOOKS

Much Truth in Adage, "My Face
Is My Fortune."

Big Thing is to Take Care of Expression; Good Looks Will Generally Care for Themselves.

In the old nursery rhyme the milk-maid announces that her face is her fortune. So far, so good. Facial beauty, however, is not permanent, a writer in London Answers reminds its readers.

Sometimes its life is extremely short. Apart from the toll that Father Time takes, it has many other enemies. Late hours, neglect, bad temper, overeating, overworking and worry are perhaps the most deadly of beauty destroyers. These, however, can be tackled and rendered harmless. Late hours can be cut out.

It is quite right that we should enjoy life, but not at the cost of ruined health and lost beauty. And as it is very true that beauty is but skin deep, we must not neglect that fragile covering. It is fresh air, exercise, soft water, a good soap and the like, that keep the skin soft and supple, and with the bloom on it.

Bad temper soon makes a naturally pretty face unnaturally ugly. If we would not lose our beauty we must not, however great the provocation, lose our temper. Overeating, of course, makes a face puff, and the delicate contours are lost in fat. Overworking, quite apart from the fact that in the end it leads to underworking, and that therefore nothing is gained, puts its imprint on the face.

Worry brings the same lines. You may have trials and troubles, but it is far better to face them and overcome them, or—if it must be so—accept them in the same sense that one has to accept a rainy day, than to worry over them. Worry is absolute waste of mental effort. It alters nothing, retrieves nothing, effects nothing. But it destroys beauty.

There is something else which has a great effect on good looks. Absent, it takes nearly all the beauty from a face. Present, it doubles, trebles, quadruples ordinary prettiness, and will make an ordinary face—yes, even the plainest of faces—attractive. The "something else" is expression.

If Providence has denied you beauty you can, of your own will, substitute expression, and let that be your "fortune."

We wonder sometimes why men make such queer matrimonial choices. Pretty Doris is passed over, and preference given to plain Dora. Yes, but Dora has a pleasant expression, and Doris has not. What Dora really is is expressed in her face, and men are attracted to her. Take her features one by one, and each is imperfect. But that nice, pleasant expression transforms everything. It reveals a beautiful character.

Doris, as the years roll on, will lose her beauty. Dora will gain beauty through her expression. It will mold her face to attractive lines. What is the gain in possessing facial beauty if we ruin it with, say, a discontented expression? What is the use of beauty with no expression?

The moral is surely obvious. If you are plain of face, put a pleasant expression on it, and the plainness is not so noticeable. If you have beauty don't destroy it, but add to it by a beautiful expression. All vices and all virtues inevitably find their expression in our faces. So the moral is obvious: Watch your character. It makes or mars your looks.

Glad to Get Away.

I was in the music department of a department store. People were playing records on the small phonographs which were placed in various parts of the room. I decided to try some. I was not familiar with the piece, but now know from my experience that it contains harsh and loud tones representing thunder. I soon realized why every one was staring at me. My music was so loud it drowned out all the rest.

A kind clerk came to my assistance and asked if I wished to buy the record.

I meekly answered "Yes," paid him, and hurriedly left the place.—Exchange.

Unemployed Ride Free.

The ministry of social welfare in Czechoslovakia has concluded an agreement with the ministry of railways whereby workers for whom work in another district has been found through the medium of a public employment exchange will have their fare paid to the place where they are to work. The return journey will also be paid if the unemployed person in question is not accepted by the employer. The cost of transport will be defrayed by the ministry of social welfare, according to information received by the International Labor Office.—International Labor Office News Service.

Queer Experience.

Last Sunday my mother put two eggs in boiling water on the stove to hard boil. About fifteen minutes later, having gone upstairs and forgotten all about the eggs, she heard a terrible noise—almost like a shot from a gun. When she came down stairs she found that the water had boiled away and that the eggs had exploded. One went up and hit the ceiling, the other went through the bottom of the pan, making a large hole in it.—Exchange.

Remarkable Journey.

My nephew, six, went under ether for an operation. After he came out of it, he was greatly frightened and held tight to his mother, sobbing: "Oh, mother, I—I was all gone—nowhere at all!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

REALISM HAS ITS DRAWBACKS

Principal in Carefully Prepared Sensation Balked When He Read Reporter's Glowing Story.

It happened a good many years ago in a northern Indiana county seat and the actors were a newspaper man, now in a responsible position on the staff of one of the great newspapers of the South, and an amiable newspaper editor with a police record as long as his arm who may be known as John Doe.

The county jail was a great resort for the reporters of the town and one quiet afternoon the reporter in question was struck with the idea of manufacturing some news. John, who was doing one of his periodical penances, agreed to assist. For a consideration John was to improvise a rope from his bed clothing and feign an attempt at suicide with the understanding that his reporter friend should arrive at the criminal moment and cut him down.

The "story" was prepared with careful attention to corroborative detail, the type was set and the hour of the hanging was fixed for press time, to keep the "news" from the rival paper.

In the afternoon John took a notion, so to speak, to read his own obituary. A proof was given him and then the story blew up.

"If you think I'm going to gasp and struggle like it says here, you've another thing coming," quoth John. The account of his attempt at suicide was too realistic and proceedings stopped right there.—Indianapolis News.

WONDERFUL PIECE OF WORK

Few Realize the Amount of Material and Labor in Audio-Frequency Transformer.

Little does the average radio novice realize the elaborate workmanship which enters into the usual audio-frequency transformer. Indeed, the low price of such devices tends to conceal their elaborateness, but the low price is due solely to a cut-throat competition which brings down selling prices irrespective of quality and cost of manufacture. Thus one of the best known transformers on the market has 3,500 turns of No. 40 enameled wire for the primary winding. Glassine paper is used between layers, and a one-eighth inch paper protection on each end serves for mechanical protection. The secondary winding is separated from the primary winding by three thicknesses of .005-inch moleskin paper, and has 13,800 turns of No. 40 enameled wire with the same insulation and end protection. The primary and the secondary leads are 16 strands of No. 24 bare copper wire stranded together and covered with one wrapping of green silk. The coil is impregnated under vacuum process in a compound consisting of beeswax and rosin, and is covered with black pebbled book-binder's cloth.

Rev. W.F. Schell, Dr. J.A. Marquis, Dr. W.H. Fowler, John Willis Bacon, Dr. Harry L. Bowley, Dr. W.F. Weir.

The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of America will meet in Indianapolis, May 17 to May 24. Dr. Harry L. Bowley, head of the Lord's Day Alliance, will make his final report as secretary of the Presbyterian Permanent Committee of Sabbath Observance, this committee having been merged with the Board of Christian Education. Dr. Bowley, a native of Asbury, New Jersey, has been threatened with death because of his efforts at Sunday enforcement. One of the distinguished commissioners to the Assembly is Dr. John Willis Bacon, a financier of Pasadena, California, formerly of Boston, who is the only layman who ever held the office of Moderator in the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of America. Dr. Charles K. Boyd, of Chicago, will report on the women's board of the Church. Dr. Charles Schell, general secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Temperance and Moral Welfare, will urge censorship of motion pictures. Dr. William P. Schell, Home Secretary for the Board, will report on work in Africa, India, China, Japan and Korea. Dr. John M. Gaston, of Pittsburgh, general secretary of the Board of Freedmen, will tell of his work for educating negroes. Dr. Harold M. Robinson, general secretary of the Board of Publication and Sabbath School Work, will make his annual report. Dr. William F. Weir, of Chicago, will make his report as general secretary of the Permanent Committee of Men's Work. Dr. John A. Marquis, general secretary, will report for the Board of Home Missions.

Tom Gibbons and Jack Dempsey, world's champion heavyweight, and Tom Gibbons, brother of Mike, in Shelby, Montana, on July 4, under the auspices of the American Legion. It is said Dempsey will receive $300,000 for his share, while Gibbons is believed to have been promised $50,000. Loy Moulumbly is managing the bout.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

IMPORTANT AIR

"I don't like to boast," said the Air, "but I really am pretty important."

"Yes, that is the truth, and I do not mean to be corrected when I say so."

"You're not conceited," said Mr. Sun. "If you were in your place a low, they would go about boasting."

"I don't say how they had accomplished this and that, and how much the world owed to them, and how they were great and must have many followers."

"Oh, some would be very conceited if they were in your place, Air."

"Yes," said the King of the Clouds, "that is so. There is nothing so important as you are, Air."

"You are needed when people want to be cool and refreshed. You are needed if people are to be healthy. If a person has fainted away the first thing said is:

"Give her air! Give her air!"

"And you're so generous, Air. You're never selfish. If people shove you out of the way and build up so that you can hardly get in, it isn't your fault."

"Of your own accord you are just as generous as generous can be. You never act selfishly."

"In all the years and years and years and years you've been about you have never said:

"Oh, dear, what do I care about all these people. I'm not going to bother about them. I'm not sure that they appreciate me, and so I won't bother any more."

"No, Air, you've never said anything like that."

"Well, I'd be horribly selfish if I did say anything like that or if I ever thought of anything like that," said the Air.

"Ah, just as I said," the King of the Clouds remarked, "you aren't selfish."

"You couldn't be selfish if you tried."

"And oh, how much good you do," said Mr. Sun.

"You do a lot of good yourself," said the Air.

"You're always so ready to praise others," said Mr. Sun.

"Well, for that matter, so are you," the Air answered.

"Ah, but what you do is the greatest work of all," Mr. Sun continued. "You're important, just as you said, and you certainly were not conceited in saying that. It is just a fact."

"Well," said the Air, "I do think it is a fact that I am important, and that I am needed, but it is for those reasons that I wouldn't want to be selfish and keep from doing my important work."

"Oh, Air," said Mr. Sun, "how everyone loves you and needs you. How good Air is! How often have I heard that speech!"

"You make people sleep without getting headaches by going right in their windows when they open them."

"You make them wake up feeling so refreshed."

"You are the guest of honor at a picnic and on trips to the woods you are so loved."

"You seem to go about to such nice places, Air."

"In fact you are wherever you are not crowded out."

"Just then along came the Queen of the Fairies and she said she had just received such a compliment from the Fairies. They had liked her costume of pale green and silver. It was of such filmy material."

"And they had told her she looked 'so nice and airy,' and she had been delighted with the compliment."

"But, Air," she said, "to me one of the most wonderful things about you is that you do so much and you accomplish so much, and yet you have no arms and no legs."

"You can't run higher and thinner, and here and there, and yet you certainly do get about!"

"You have no arms, and yet you carry health with you all the time!"

"You have no head, and yet you know how to do so much that is wise and good and that will help people to keep well and strong."

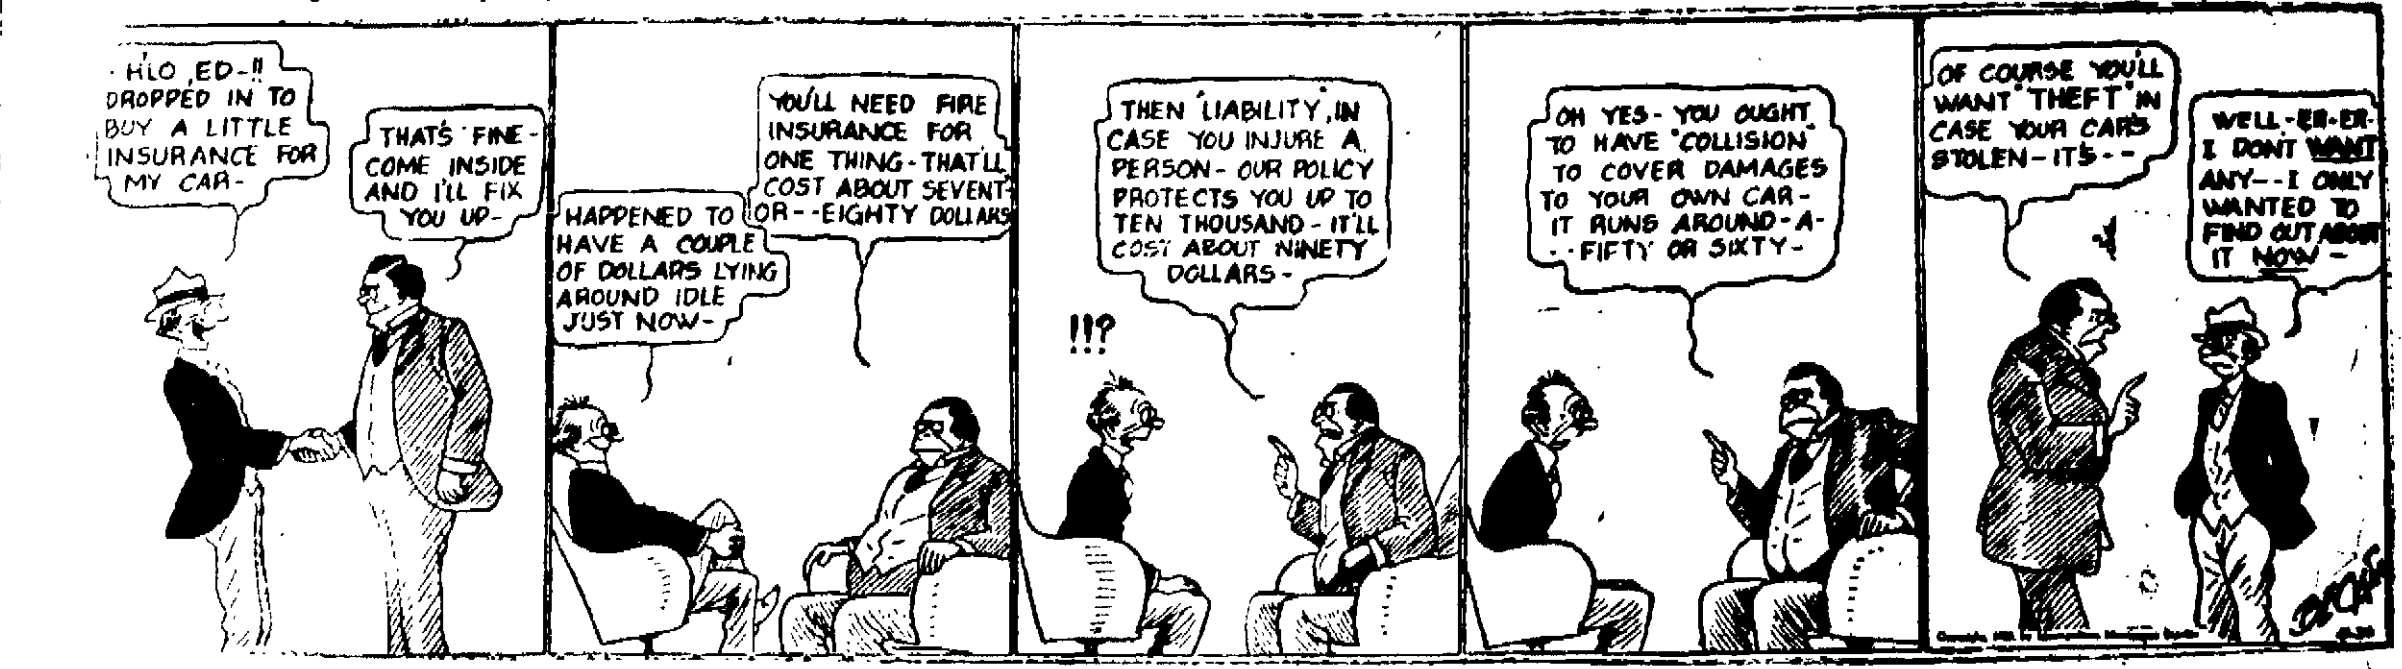

"Yes, Air, you are remarkable, remarkable!"

"And then the Fairy Queen picked up her long trailing skirt and did a lovely, lovely dance, waving her wand and singing this song as she danced:

Beautiful Air
Here and there
And everywhere!
Beautiful, wonderful Air!

FOR BAKING DAY

When bread is to be baked one does not like to cut a shapely loaf while it is hot, so take a small piece of the dough when molding the bread, roll out in a round loaf, place in a pastry plate and when light, bake. This may be broken and eaten hot; a great favorite with the Scotch people, who call such a loaf a bannock.

Potato Pancakes (Russian).—Peel three large potatoes and let them stand over night. In the morning grate them into a bowl, add one-half cupful of flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder, one egg and salt and pepper to taste, with just milk enough to make the batter of the right consistency. Fry like ordinary pancakes and serve with butter, sirup or jelly, as liked.

Graham Cracker Cake.—Beat one-half cupful of butter to a cream; add two-thirds of a cupful of sugar, two eggs yokes beaten light, and alternately one cupful of milk and two-thirds of a pound of rolled graham crackers; sift with three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, a little salt and half a teaspoonful of cinnamon or mace; lastly beat in the whites of the eggs beaten stiff and dry. Bake in a small cake pan 12 by 7 inches. When cold cut in halves and put together with mocha frosting. Cut in small pieces, finish each with a maraschino cherry in the center of each.

Sunshine Cake.—Beat the yolks of three eggs until thick, add one-half cupful of cold water and beat until like custard. Add one and one-half cupfuls of sugar and beat well. Alternate the stiffly beaten whites with one and one-half cupfuls of flour. Bake slowly at first, using an angel-food pan. Use a Dover egg beater to beat the mixture.

Chop Suey.—Dice a pound of round steak and brown in a little suet, add a cupful of diced celery, plenty of seasoning, cover in the iron kettle and simmer for two to three hours. Serve over boiled seasoned rice.

Decentralizing a City.
A scientific plan for the future development of New York city, more thorough and comprehensive than anything of the kind ever before attempted, and including all the territory within fifty miles of Battery park, is being begun by a committee of experts appointed for the purpose by the Russell Sage foundation. The committee is known as the "committee on the plan of New York and its environs."

All suburban territory will be divided into six sections and one expert will make a particular study of its problems and of their relation to the whole plan. The survey will include consideration of every phase of city life with special reference to housing, transportation, zoning and recreation.

The ultimate object is the decentralization of New York to the greatest practical extent, possibly through the creation of self-contained suburbs or "satellite towns" whose inhabitants will find opportunities for work, education, religious observance and recreation without going to the center of the city. A preliminary report will be made October 1.

Formation of Waterspout.
A water spout is a remarkable meteorological phenomenon, frequently observed at sea, and exactly analogous to the whirlwinds experienced on land. It occurs when opposite winds of different temperatures meet in the upper atmosphere, whereby a great amount of vapor is condensed into a thick black cloud, to which a vortical motion is given. This vortical motion causes it to take the form of a vast funnel, which, descending near the surface of the sea, draws up the water in its vortex, which joins in its whirling motion. The whole column, which after the junction extends from the sea to the clouds, assumes a magnificent appearance, being of a light color near its axis, but dark along the sides. When acted on by the wind the column assumes a position oblique to the horizon, but in calm weather it maintains its vertical position and is carried along the surface of the sea.—Boston Globe.

How to use LINIT
Instantly In Cold Water
Merely dissolve one-half cup of Linit in a little cold water. Stir until thoroughly dissolved. Add to eight cupfuls of luke warm water, rub well into fabric, roll, iron in half hour.

Makes COTTON look & feel LIKE LINEN

HOUSEWIVES— do you know this MARVELOUS WAY of EASY IRONING?

EVERY woman knows that it's a real pleasure to iron pretty, dainty garments and fabrics when your iron glides over the surfaces, and gives you just the kind of finish you like to have.

With Linit—the new improved scientific starch discovery—you get the same natural finish on your garments or fabrics that they had when they first came from the store.

Linit is made by an improved process so that the starch remains thin and free-running. This enables it to penetrate every thread of your fabric—thus helping to prevent wear and tear of the material, and lengthening its life.

Linit never cakes or forms lumps. This is what causes your iron to stick so often, when you use ordinary starches.

For starching every kind of garment and fabric you wear and use in your home, starch with Linit! You will marvel at the rich natural finish it gives—even to the daintiest of cotton fabrics.

Your grocer now has Linit—Get a Package today. Linit is made by the Corn Products Refining Company, 17 Battery Place, New York—makers of the famous Argo, Duryea's and Kingford's Starches.

CORN PRODUCTS REFINING CO.

1 For starching finer and lighter fabrics, Linit requires no boiling. Made instantly in cold water. See directions on package.

2 Linit never cakes, smears or sticks to the iron. This saves time, labor and your temper.

Sometimes It Pays

Sometimes it pays to go to a bank and borrow money. Sometimes borrowing money is the wisest and most profitable thing in the world to do.

But bankers never employed the slogan, "It pays to borrow."

Rather, they counsel carefully with a man before they advise him to borrow—for his own safety, as well as their own. They do not promote borrowing as something practically sure of success.

Perhaps that is one reason why bankers have never understood the expression, "It pays to advertise."

Advertising sometimes pays, just as borrowing sometimes pays, just as investment sometimes pays, just as manufacturing sometimes pays.

Advertising is not the sum of all the economic laws. The man who uses advertising must have a different conception of it than as something that is sure to pay.

That is what advertising agencies are for—to keep men from believing things about advertising that are not true.

CONCENTRATION

By ADELAIDE R. KEMP

JAN nibbled the end of the pencil and gazed dreamily out on the dreary, gray landscape. She had dabbled in literature for more than a year now, with varying success. Problem stories, love stories, even poetry. Some of her ships at sea had some "pulling home," but a number had really found small harbors. Now she wanted to try for bigger game. Why not look at the door of the first-class magazine that had fallen into her hands that morning?

Jean determined this afternoon to buckle down to business and not allow her wits to go on one of their wool-gathering expeditions. Baby Jimmy was settled for his long nap. There was a fresh loaf of gingerbread in the pantry and a bowl of whipped cream. She would have baked macaroni for supper and Johnnycake. They hadn't had Johnnycake for a long time and Tom was fond of it.

The tinkle of the telephone downstairs startled her and she hastily took another nibble from her pencil. It was probably Mrs. Wells ready for a visit, or maybe Elsie Bishop wanted her fudge cake recipe. Jean gazed around the room rather distractedly. She had the foundation for what really appeared a good story in her mind. Again the tinkle of the telephone. Jean raised her eyes to the motto she had hung above her desk.

"Concentrate all your thoughts upon the work in hand. The sun's rays do not burn until brought to a focus."

She read it twice. For two hours after that nothing could be heard but the ticking of the clock and the rustle of paper. The baby awoke in the next room as she straightened her tired shoulders with the finish of the story.

When Jean hurried to the front door, in answer to Tom's familiar ring, she was nearly overcome to find he had brought a man, an absolute stranger, home for supper. With dismay the vision of the simple meal flashed through her mind and the Johnnycake. Well, it was Tom's fault. He had no right to surprise her in that way. With true feminine adaptability to the unexpected, however, she smiled her brightest, added a few touches to the table and had sense enough not to apologize for its simplicity.

Mr. Arnold proved to be very friendly. He was an elderly man with deep-set gray eyes—"a student of human nature," thought Jean. He enjoyed the Johnnycake thoroughly, and had a second helping of the gingerbread and whipped cream. In the living room, after the dishes were washed and the baby put in his crib, Jean undertook to entertain him while Tom was down cellar attending to the furnace.

During the course of the conversation Mr. Arnold let drop the fact that Tom had attempted to get her on the telephone in the afternoon to meet them for supper. If she could find some one to stay with the baby.

"And I'm rather selfishly glad he didn't," he added, with a twinkle of his gray eyes. "For I haven't had Johnnycake like that since I used to visit my grandmother years ago."

Jean remembered the tinkling of the telephone and the reading of the motto and blushed guiltily. Then she laughed. "I'll just have to tell you, Mr. Arnold," she said, "how I was trying to concentrate and lost a perfectly good party."

And therewith she related in her own bright, inimitable manner, her ambitious attempt of the afternoon.

"But you were right, Mrs. Bennett," laughed her guest, when she had finished. "It's no use trying the crossroads, even if they might lead to a supper downtown. And I'd like to see that story," he added. "I have a friend interested in ambitious young writers."

Jean timidly gave him the manuscript, and then went upstairs in answer to a call from Jimmy. She had to stay longer than she had expected, and when she came down Mr. Arnold was just leaving, and Tom was going to walk out to the car with him.

A few minutes later Tom returned, and, hurrying into the living room, caught her by both hands.

"Great for you, Jean. You've done it this time. The old boy is going to send you a check in the morning, and he wants more stuff as soon as you can write it."

Jean looked absolutely bewildered. "Oh, Tommy, what do you mean?" "Who is he, anyway?"

"Who is he?" said Tom, giving his wife a look of pride. "Why, he's the editor of the very magazine you were going to try your story on. I tried to get you on the telephone this afternoon. He thinks it is one big joke."

Jean dropped onto the couch. "And I gave him Johnnycake for supper," she murmured.

COLONIALS DROP FIRST GAME

To D. & H. Generals—Due to Wind—Loss Upon Part of Forsythe, Who Took Ross's Place in Eighth—Score at End of Game Is 4-3—McCue Makes Three Errors.

The Colonial baseball team was defeated for the first time this season on Saturday afternoon at the hands of Rossback and the D. & H. Generals by the score of 4-3. It was a hard game to lose but it was by no means a disgraceful defeat. It was a real ball game and the Colonials held the upper hand until the eighth inning when Forsythe took the place of Ross in the pitcher's box and proceeded to walk a man, hit a man and delivered a wild pitch. This, coupled with two errors on the part of McCue, a rather unusual combination in two runs which gave the Generals a one run lead, while the Colonials were unable to overtake.

Rossback came here on Saturday determined to take revenge on the Colonials for the trimming they had handed him in the first game of the season when he was pitching for Red Hook, and after the first inning he certainly showed the fans how to pitch ball.

Sid Ross, who pitched seven innings for the Colonials, pitched a real good brand of ball, although he was not in the condition which it is expected he will be in before the season is over. Although he got in a hole a number of times he always seemed to be able to work his way out. More than that, he gave the Colonials a one run lead in the seventh with a clean hit. Ross will be a big addition to the Colonials if he only keeps in the right kind of condition and from the reception he received at the hands of the fans, who braved the rainy weather to see the game, it seems as though they all wish him well.

As is usually the case the Colonials started off by annexing a few runs in the first inning. Stanley was walked, both Coyle and Robins were put out, Matty Deegan was the next man up and what did he do but knock a home run over the left field fence which gave the Colonials a two run lead at the very beginning. Dahn also succeeded in getting a hit but the Colonials were retired when Terpenning fled out to the center fielder.

Neither side did a great deal of hitting until the fourth inning when the Generals decided that they have been fooling long enough and that it was about time for them to put a run or two over. Phelps was the first man up and he fled out to the catcher, for Sandy recovered a free passage to first base. Hickey came through with a clean hit to right field and Kelly Herbst followed him with a double between center field and right field which scored two runs and put the railroad men on an even basis with the local team. Ott and John Sandy both fled out which ended the inning and the rally of the Generals.

Things went along very smoothly for the next two innings with Rossback getting stronger and stronger, and Ross holding his own. In fact it looked as though the game might develop into the first extra inning battle of the season. However in the seventh things took a different turn. Terpenning was put out at first by a grounder to short. Schwab came through with his second hit of the afternoon and the season by hitting a long one to left field. Rossback held McCue's gentle tap and instead of relaying it to second base sent it to short stop who was standing about ten feet away from the bag. This left both McCue and Schwab on the bags and paved the way for another run for the Colonials. Ross was the next man up and he knocked out a real one to right field which scored Schwab.

Then in the Generals' half of the eighth with Forsythe in the box the sad proceedings which were related at the beginning of the story took place and the Generals sported a one run lead.

However the clan of Schurick had not lost hope by means and they made a valiant attempt in their half of the eighth to get back that one run. Coyle struck out, Robins hit safely and began immediately afterwards was walked by Rossback. Dahn did not seem to be able to connect with the ball and as a result he took a walk. This left both McCue and Schwab on the bags and paved the way for another run for the Colonials. Ross was the next man up and he knocked out a real one to right field which scored Schwab.

BLOWOUT MADE LIGHTS SPASMODIC

Saturday night between 7 and 9 o'clock people who use electric lights were rather much annoyed by reason of the fact that the current was cut off at intervals. The up-town department stores were particularly inconvenienced and if they were not fortunate enough to be supplied with gas as well as electricity there was a good opportunity for some amateur thieves to get to work. However no robberies of any kind were reported to the police.

The officials of the Kingston Gas & Electric Company stated today that the interruption was caused by a branch blowing on a high tension line at Mingo Hollow and causing a short circuit. A scouting party was sent out immediately and as soon as they found where the interruption was it was quickly remedied and the service resumed.

Society Notes

Parkers Give Reception.

Judge and Mrs. Alfred B. Parker, recently home from their honeymoon trip through the south, gave a large reception at the Ambassador in New York Friday for Judge Parker's daughter and grandchildren, Mrs. Charles Mercer Hall and Miss Mary Hall. The children are stopping at the Ambassador and will leave soon to pass the summer at Rossmount, Judge Parker's place at Esopus.

On Saturday afternoon the Cotterle was entertained by Miss Huber at the home of Miss Van Kenon on Broadway. Two most interesting and informing papers, admirably presented, were given, the first on "The Bible and Modern Life" by Miss Bondney, the other on "Great Americans" by Mrs. Monroe. The latter will entertain the Federation of Women's Clubs at the May open meeting, on the last Saturday afternoon in May, and have secured as their speaker for the afternoon Mrs. Putnam Cady, who just having returned from her trip abroad will tell of some phases of that trip. The last meeting of this season of the Cotterle will be on the evening of Friday, May 11th, at the Rensselaer Presbyterian Manse, Mrs. Monroe being the hostess.

ANOTHER CROSS SUNDAY NIGHT

This One on Augustus Elmendorf's Farm on Hurley Road—Work of Franksters, Thinks Sheriff.

Once more some of the residents of this city were treated to a blazing cross and once more people of the city began to conjecture whether or not there really is a K. K. Klan in the city.

This time the cross was set out on the Hurley road on Sunday night about 10:30. The cross was set up on the farm of Augustus Elmendorf and was approximately five feet in height. No one saw any white-robed figures gathered around the cross. It was also impossible to distinguish any foot prints near the cross.

The cross was well back from the highway, about 200 feet from the fence, in a position that commanded a wide view of the surrounding territory.

When asked whether or not he was making an investigation of the affair the sheriff said that he did not regard the matter of sufficient importance to do so. He considers the different crosses as merely the pranks of a few people who are endeavoring to scare the public.

To Remove Small Warts.
One of the difficult disfiguring things to get rid of is the eruption of many small warts on the face. The British Medical Journal tells how Dr. Charles had succeeded in eradicating them. He paints the warts three times in one day with a saturated solution of salicylic acid in alcohol and the following morning he cuts them off with a flat sharp instrument, leveled on one side only. This is painless, but it leaves a tiny bleeding point at the site of the wart. This he immediately paints again with the salicylic acid solution, which is applied twice again the same day. On the second morning the sites of the warts have small brown scales, which are bathed once a day with pure alcohol till they drop off, leaving a healthy skin.

Man's Home Woman.
"I don't mind being a 'home woman,' most of the time," said the young wife to the woman, "but I do resent it when I'm traveling with my husband and the train stops for some unknown reason and my husband puts on his cap and goes forth to see what has happened, and of course expects me to sit still, and when he returns expects that I'll not even want to know what has happened. Woman's place in the home is all right, but keeping her place in the seat of a train while there is excitement around is a little too much."—Chicago Journal.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

New York, April 30.—Heaviest marked trading at the opening of the stock market today. Selling pressure was especially noticeable in sugar, copper and some oil stocks. Accumulation of selling orders over the week and caused heaviness in the afternoon trading.

Selling pressure subsided somewhat early in the afternoon, but was in a few stocks, buying power was too limited to effect an immediate improvement.

Painting Under Difficulties.
Philip Proper, 75 years old and a war veteran, is painting his house at 11 Park. Mr. Proper, who has lost one leg, goes up and down the ladder better than many younger but less ambitious men.

Ridding County of Prairie Dogs.
A rodent drive in that creek community, Niobrara county, Wyoming, recently resulted in about half the co-operators ridding their land of every prairie dog, while each of the others had, at the time of reporting, but four or five live rodents left. Not 100 live prairie dogs. It is estimated, are left on this area of about 25,000 acres, which was literally alive with them six months ago. The work was started in April on a strip of land thirteen miles long and three miles wide, with twenty-two ranchers co-operating. Practically every man in the district signed up to do his share of the poisoning. The county appropriated money to be used in purchasing poison for the state and non-resident lands, the biological survey furnished poison for the federal land, and labor was donated by interested residents.—Department of Agriculture Bulletin.

To Remove Small Warts.
One of the difficult disfiguring things to get rid of is the eruption of many small warts on the face. The British Medical Journal tells how Dr. Charles had succeeded in eradicating them. He paints the warts three times in one day with a saturated solution of salicylic acid in alcohol and the following morning he cuts them off with a flat sharp instrument, leveled on one side only. This is painless, but it leaves a tiny bleeding point at the site of the wart. This he immediately paints again with the salicylic acid solution, which is applied twice again the same day. On the second morning the sites of the warts have small brown scales, which are bathed once a day with pure alcohol till they drop off, leaving a healthy skin.

Man's Home Woman.
"I don't mind being a 'home woman,' most of the time," said the young wife to the woman, "but I do resent it when I'm traveling with my husband and the train stops for some unknown reason and my husband puts on his cap and goes forth to see what has happened, and of course expects me to sit still, and when he returns expects that I'll not even want to know what has happened. Woman's place in the home is all right, but keeping her place in the seat of a train while there is excitement around is a little too much."—Chicago Journal.

F. T. A. School No. 5.
The regular monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of School No. 5 will be held at the school on Tuesday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock, at which time election of officers for the ensuing year will take place.

EVANGELIST AT ROSENDALE CHURCH

All three services on Sunday at the Rosendale Baptist Church, under the direction of the Rev. H. Wayne Jones, Evangelist and Prof. McKeever, soloist and song leader, were well attended, and much interest manifested. At the close of the evening service when the invitation was given, several came forward, indicating their desire and determination to live a Christian life and accept Jesus Christ as their personal Saviour. Evangelistic meetings every night this week at 7:45. Dr. Jones will preach every evening and Prof. McKeever will sing. Boosting meetings at 4:00 every afternoon. Prof. McKeever leader. All services on daylight saving time. On Tuesday evening, it is expected that a large delegation from Cortkill will attend the service. It is understood that the Rosendale village bus line, Lynch and Glass, proprietors, will bring the Cortkill people to Rosendale and take them back again free of charge. This courtesy and cooperation on the part of the gentlemen who own the buses is much appreciated. Dr. Jones has no traps or embarrassing positions for those who come. He deals with people as he himself would like to be dealt with under similar circumstances. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to attend the meetings this week. These special services will close Sunday evening, May 6th.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.
Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

A month's mind, Mass for Irene McGovern will be offered at St. Mary's Church on Tuesday morning, May 1, at 7 o'clock.

Albert W. Windrum, son of William W. Windrum, Jr., died Sunday, April 29, at 9:30 o'clock from his home, 1118 Putnam avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mrs. Julia Nolan, a respected and aged resident of Saugerties, died at her home on Russell street, Friday, April 27th. Two daughters, Anna and Mary, mourn her death.

John Burns died in this city today. Funeral Thursday morning from the home of his sister, Mrs. Peter Lemister, No. 12 Cordis street, at 8:30 o'clock and at St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. A Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Interment in the family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Ella May Whipple, wife of Harry T. Lown, died Sunday afternoon at her late residence, 89 Prospect street. Besides her husband she is survived by her father, George B. Whipple, and three brothers, Elmer and George of this city and Walter of West Catskill, Pa. Funeral Wednesday afternoon at 1:45 o'clock from the late residence and at 2:30 o'clock from the Wurts Street Baptist Church.

Anna, the 6 years old daughter of William and Mary Repe Newburn, died Sunday afternoon after a short illness. Besides her parents she leaves four sisters. The funeral will be held at the late home, 63 East Pleasant street, Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock and 9:30 at St. Peter's Church, where a Mass will be offered for the repose of her soul. Interment will be in the family plot in St. Peter's Cemetery.

A seventh anniversary Mass for the late Mrs. James P. McAndrew will be read at St. Mary's Church Wednesday morning at 7 o'clock.

William R. Stanley, a former and well known resident of this city, died today this morning at the home of his son, William G. Stanley, at Lake Katy. He is survived by two sons, William G. and John, who he resided, and Frank Stanley of this city. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

John Burns, for many years a citizen of this city, died early this morning after a short illness. He leaves one son, John, of this city, and two daughters, Mrs. Stephen Thompson of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Mrs. Peter Lemister of this city. The funeral will be held from the home of Mrs. Lemister, with whom he resided, at 12 Cordis street, Thursday morning at 8:30 o'clock and 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Church, where a Mass will be offered for the repose of his soul. Interment in the family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Elizabeth Dixon, wife of James E. Cullum, state boiler inspector, died very suddenly this morning at her home, 254 Hasbrouck avenue, following a very brief illness. Mrs. Cullum's death comes as a very sudden shock to her many relatives and friends. Besides her husband she is survived by four children, John, Robert, James and Maria and three brothers, Stephen and Schenck, Robert J. of East Orange, N. J., and Charles of Hoffman street, this city, and two sisters, Mrs. Augustus Stending and Mrs. James Darcy. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

The funeral of James DeVall, a life long resident of Mount Tremper, was held at the Reformed Church, on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Mr. DeVall died at the home of his niece, Mrs. Henry Eldridge, in this city, where he resided for the past several years since the death of his wife. After a prayer service held at the home here, the funeral cortege went by auto to the Mount Tremper church, where the Rev. Mr. Moser of the Trinity M. E. Church, conducted the services and spoke very highly of the life of the deceased. His friends were many and he was "finely Jim" to nearly every one. The floral tributes were many and beautiful. The interment was in the Hudler Cemetery.

Some Curious Beliefs.
In the south of England it is believed even now that the eating of herring-brains gives one beauty. The monks of the Teuth century had an idea that the ashes of burnt flies were good for the complexion.

HANDICRAFT FOR GIRLS

By DOROTHY PERKINS
(Copyright by A. Neely Hall)
A HOME-MADE YARN WINDER AND KNITTING NEEDLES.

Since the knitting of socks, sweaters, scarfs, and other comforts is so general a sparetime occupation, the yarn winder in Fig. 1 will not go amiss in any household.

The winder arms are two wooden strips (A and B, Fig. 2), pivoted to the top of a base block (F, Fig. 7). The fingers at the arm ends are spools (D, Fig. 4).

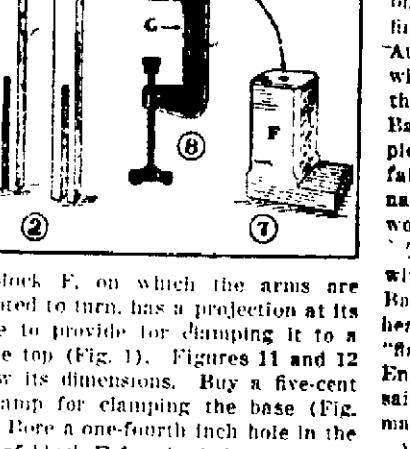

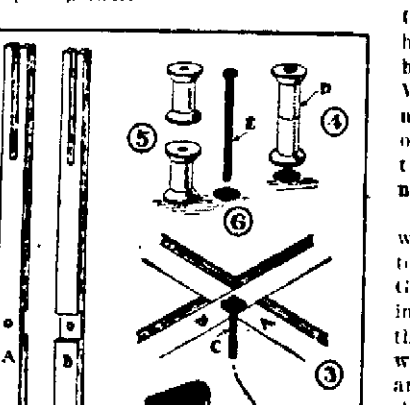

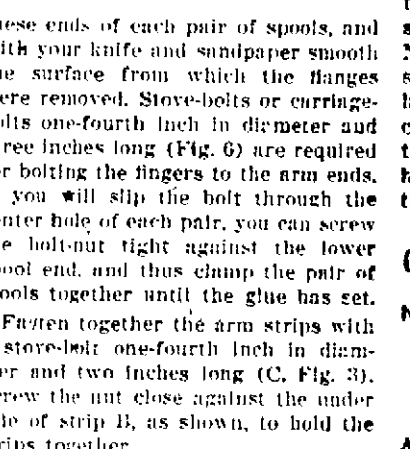

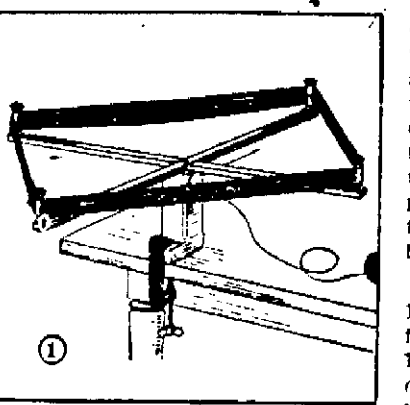

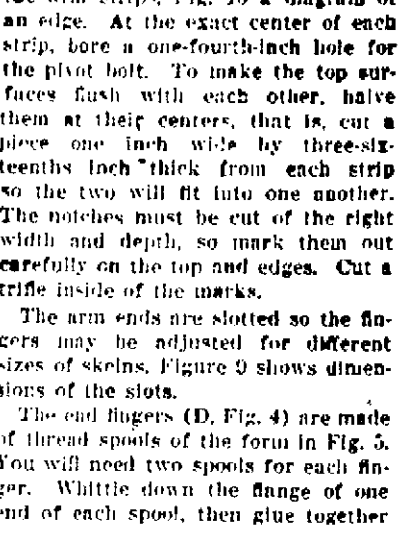

Figure 9 is a diagram of the top of the arm strips. Fig. 10 a diagram of an edge. At the exact center of each strip, bore a one-fourth-inch hole for the pivot bolt. To make the top surfaces flush with each other, halve them at their centers, that is, cut a piece one inch wide by three-sixteenths inch thick from each strip so the two will fit into one another. The notches must be cut of the right width and depth, so mark them out carefully on the top and edges. Cut a trifle inside of the marks.

The arm ends are slotted so the fingers may be adjusted for different sizes of skeins. Figure 9 shows dimensions of the slots.

The end fingers (D, Fig. 4) are made of threaded spools of the form in Fig. 5. You will need two spools for each finger. Whittle down the flange of one end of each spool, then glue together these ends of each pair of spools, and with your knife and sandpaper smooth the surface from which the flanges were removed. Slide-bolts or carriage-bolts one-fourth inch in diameter and three inches long (Fig. 6) are required for bolting the fingers to the arm ends. If you will slip the bolt through the center hole of each pair, you can screw the bolt-tight against the lower spool end, and thus clamp the pair of spools together until the glue has set.

Fasten together the arm strips with a screw-bolt one-fourth inch in diameter and two inches long (C, Fig. 3). Screw the nut close against the under side of strip B, as shown, to hold the strips together.

Block F, on which the arms are pivoted to turn, has a projection at its base to provide for clamping it to a table top (Fig. 1). Figures 11 and 12 show its dimensions. Buy a five-cent screw for clamping the base (Fig. 5). Bore a one-fourth inch hole in the top of block F for the bolt to turn in.

If you want to make sweater knitting needles, get dowel-sticks three-sixteenths inch in diameter. Cut them into 12-inch lengths (Fig. 14). Whittle one end to a point, and in the other end drive a brass tack measuring three-eighths inch across the head (Fig. 15). Drill a hole so the tack will not split the slender stick. Sandpaper and varnish the sticks.

Make sock knitting needles 8 1/2 inches long, and point both ends.

Figure 13 suggests a pair of needle point protectors, made of spools. Glue a coil of paper in the spool hole (Fig. 16), to make it small enough so the needles will fit snugly.

LEGION MAN BUSY IN CHINA

Alfred H. Holt, Wisconsin Boy, Was First Commander of American Organization in China.

Alfred H. Holt, formerly of Oconto, Wis., was the first commander of the Canton (China) American Legion post, one of the recently organized branches of the soldiers' organization in foreign climes. Had it not been for the Legion man China today would be lacking a good "republican" or two, for it was his home that sheltered the many or of Canton, son of Doctor Sun Yat Sen, during the fighting for the possession of the city in 1922.

Holt is an instructor at the Canton Christian college, where he teaches French and English to the Chinese students. He is also instructor of military tactics to the cadet corps, and is active in boy scout work of the school.

While the fighting was in progress last June, the gunboats of Doctor Sun Yat Sen were shelling the city and were answered by the forts of the town. The fire grew so intense that Doctor Sun's wife, his son, then the mayor of the city, his wife, fled to the college grounds for safety. One shell, fortunately a "dud," hit squarely on top of a college dormitory, but did no harm.

Since Doctor Holt's election as commander of this faraway post, he has taken an active part in his work. He organized an American Legion baseball team, of which he himself is a member, as well as of the college baseball team, which met the University of California on the recent trip that team made to the Orient. It is said that when these two teams met, the armies of the republicans and irregulars suspended fighting long enough to watch the baseball game.

A student at Williams college in 1917, Holt became a member of the first training camp at Plattsburg in 1918, and at the close of this camp was ordered to Camp Lee, Va., for further training. He was commissioned as second lieutenant of infantry early in November, 1918, but failed to get overseas. After his release from service he returned to college, finished his course, and soon afterward accepted the post of instructor in China. He heads a small but extremely enthusiastic bunch of Legionnaires in Canton.

GREET GERMAN WAR BRIDES
National President of Legion Auxiliary Announces Organization Members Will Serve as Big Sisters.

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary will act as big sisters to German war brides and their babies, Dr. Kate Barrett, national president of that organization, has announced.

Dr. Barrett went to Savannah to welcome the German women, in the name of the Auxiliary and, while there, made arrangements to obtain information in regard to the final destination of the Rhine women. Auxiliary units in those communities will assist the brides in acclimating themselves to a new country. Dr. Barrett believes that many of the unpleasant experiences which naturally fall to the lot of aliens can be eliminated by the kindly help of Auxiliary women.

The war brides measure up well with any other group of women, Dr. Barrett stated. They are young, healthy women, none of them of the "pupper" type. Most of them spoke English, since their husbands, they said, would not learn to speak German.

Living It Over.
A western veteran was relating his war experience in an American Legion post to a friend when a third man drew his chair up just in time to hear the first say:

"—and they were falling all around us. Think? Oh, boy?"

"Living it over, eh?" interrupted the newcomer. "How big were they?"

"Some of 'em eight or ten feet in diameter."

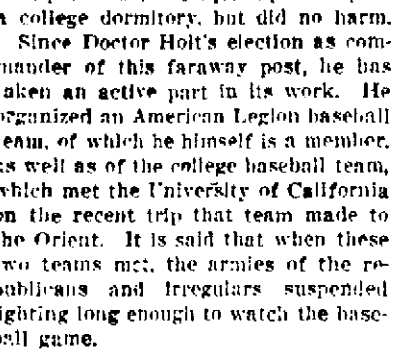

"Hold on there, they don't come that big. What war were you in? You musta been shell shocked."

"Shell shock me eye. I guess I was there and I saw them. And some of them over two hundred feet high."

"Say, what the—what are you talking about?"

"Why, the trees we cut out in Oregon in the Spruce Division."—American Legion Week.

Will Study Military Needs
Lieut. Col. William P. Screws, Chairman of Military Affairs Committee, to Direct Work.

Lieut. Col. William P. Screws, Montgomery, Ala., has been appointed chairman of the military affairs committee of the American Legion, one of the most important of the committees which serve the veterans' organization. Colonel Screws is a national executive committee of the Legion, a committee is charged with the duty of studying the military needs of the nation with a view to recommending to the annual convention of the Legion necessary changes in existing legislation or new legislation on subjects which have not been covered by reports of previous committees.

The military affairs committee of the Legion was instrumental in framing the national defense act, which has become a law, and is considered one of the most important pieces of work accomplished toward increasing the efficiency of the nation.

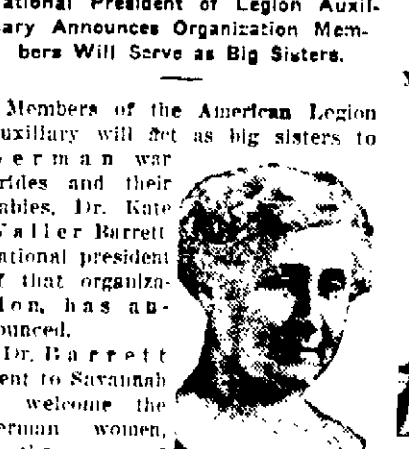

At present Colonel Screws is serving as instructor of the Alabama National Guard.

LEGION SEEKS MISSING MAN
Fred Arnold Beer, Buffalo Overlooker, Veteran, Disappeared Two and Half Years Ago.

Relatives of Fred Arnold Beer, Buffalo, N. Y., have asked the American Legion to help them locate him. Beer has been missing from the Ulster State hospital for two and a half years. He saw service with the Three Hundred and Forty-eighth ambulance company, and after his return was placed in the hospital as one of the mental patients.

His mother, who is a widow, is making every possible resource to locate her lost son, who is an only child. Beer is thirty-four years old, a letter from his cousin who is aiding in search for the missing man states he weighs about 135 pounds and is five feet nine and one-half inches tall. He has light-brown hair and eyes, and occasionally goes under the impression that his name is Kelly or Squibb.

Anyone who can give any information concerning this missing veteran is asked to communicate with his cousin, Theodore H. Becker, Jr., 543 Elmwood square, Buffalo, N. Y.

Thinebeck's Home Town Pitchers
Give Local Batsmen Nine Safe
Blows—Culliton Allows Five Scattered Hits.

Once more they came, once more they saw, and once more they were conquered.

Why? Why, the Astors, of course. And once more the residents of the village of Rhinebeck were robbed of the opportunity of seeing a real bon fire at the expense of the Kingston Colonials.

Manager Buckley and Financial Adviser Schatz listened to the advice of some of the fans across the river this time and on Sunday started one of their own local pitchers, Kilmer, in the box. Kilmer was relieved in the second by Pottenburgh, also a local light.

This piece of strategy might have worked out to perfection if it hadn't been for the fact that Culliton went into the box for the Colonials with the idea uppermost in his mind of pitching another shut out game. The score at the end of the proceedings was 4-0.

The Astor's holders put up another exhibition of real baseball just as they did when they were here a little over a week ago, and the Colonial batters were called upon to make real hits if they expected to get on base. However, this did not bother them one bit and they succeeded in coming through with nine safe blows, while Buckley's men, only succeeded in getting five hits, all of which were scattered.

For the Colonials, Robins and Dahn had the best day at bat. Jack made three hits out of four times at bat and Freddie made two hits out of two times at bat. Not so bad.

When it comes to awarding the fielding honors for the day, Tommy McCombs gets the assignment beyond a question of doubt. In the fifth inning with Sid Russ, who took Dahn's place when the latter receded to center field, on the base Terpening drove one in the direction of third base which looked like a real hit but McCombs stuck up his mitt and pulled it in. The feat brought a great hand from the crowd. Then immediately afterwards Schwab drove another one in the same direction and that, too, was pulled in by the fast third sacker.

Kilmer, who bails from the village of Red Hook and who last season succeeded in securing a win over the Colonials, stepped into the box to start proceedings for the Astors. He was real confident just as a man of his caliber should be but in three minutes before this confidence was completely knocked out of him. As usual Benny was lead off man and he drove a hot liner in the direction of Sweet Russel. Russel made a beautiful pick up and relayed the ball to first before Benny could manage to land on the sack. Cuyler came to bat and fooled Kilmer into giving him a free passage to first. Cuyler then thought that he would make it a complete walk away by stealing third but he was caught at it and put out at second. Robins hit one to center. Dorgan, as usual, was the one man to get hit by the pitcher and as a result he too took a walk to first. Dahn then hit one in the direction of third and reached first safely. The bases were now full and Kilmer thought that it was about time to present the Colonials with a run so he walked Terpening, forcing Robins over the rubber. Schwab fled out ending the inning.

McCue hit a double in the second inning and Bud advanced him to third by a neat sacrifice. Cuyler then placed a nice one over in center field and Mac came home registering the second run of the afternoon for the locals.

If things had been going bad for Kilmer before the third, they certainly got worse in the third. Dorgan got another free passage to first by being walked. Cuyler hit another one into left field which put two men on, with none out. At this stage of the game the Astor triumvirate held a consultation and decided that the best thing to do was to give Kilmer the privilege of sitting on the bench for the rest of the afternoon. Pottenburgh took up the burden. Terpening laid down a nice bunt between first and second which brought Dorgan in home. Dahn succeeded in scoring from third on McCue's infield out. This ended the scoring for the Colonials for the afternoon but it was enough.

The only time that the Astors appeared at all dangerous was in the seventh when McCombs got on first with no one down. Culliton retired Esterly by the strike out route. McCarty drove one to Cuyler, three to Borgan at second for a force out of McCue. However, Benny's return was wild and Cuyler could not pull it in, which sent McCarty down to second. Pottenburgh let one go from his bat which looked as though it might develop into home. However, Schwab pulled it in which ended the rally.

Possibly the "mayor" of Rhinebeck will get another chance some day.
